Dear West Park Families

Apparently, I have become an avid weather watcher, and I am now the font of all knowledge when it comes to predicting the weather over West Park!

I can confidently say that this is not actually the case, but different weather apps do suggest that the hot spell will continue through next week until rain beckons in the holidays on Friday 24th July! Typical!

With temperatures continuing to remain in the high twenties, we will allow pupils to wear PE kit through to the end of term on Thursday 23rd July. School will close at 3:00 p.m. on this day.

Our annual music festival, WESTFEST, takes place on Tuesday 21st and Wednesday 22nd July. Both days are non-uniform days. I look forward to sharing the last few days of term with your children and celebrating another action-packed year at our school.

After being serenaded with 'Three Lions' at the Year 11 Prom, I continue with my temporary support for the England football team. Let's hope for a smoother passage through the semi-final tomorrow evening!

Come on Eng..... (Sorry still can't quite do it!). Come on England!!! (But I can... and I type the letters! Jackie).

Take care.

Kind regards

Scott McGregor
